(ii) Development of Women and Children in Rural Areas (DWCRA) Evaluation by M/s. Mode Research Agency 1990—

(a) Inadequate staffing, lack of awareness and group cohesion, and lack of adequate marketing outlets at the field levels are some of the major impediments resulting into tardy implementation of DWCRA Projects.

(b) It is also noticed that revolving fund was not being used fully.

(iii) Universal Immunization Programme (UIP)—Evaluation by Government of India, WHO & UNICEF September, 1992—

(a) Consistently high coverage under the programme for all doses both for children as well as women;

(b) Combination of high levels of TT Vaccinations and safe birth practices leading to marked drop in incidence of neo-natal tetanus;

(c) Generally high community awareness and acceptance of immunization services; and

(d) Effective working of cold chain and logistic system.

(c) Does not arise.

(d) Interaction between Government of India and the UNICEF takes place through the nodal Department of Women & Child Development as well as different sectoral Ministries responsible for implementation and management of national programmes assisted by UNICEF.
